Emeria enters into exclusive negotiations with Odealim to sell Assurimo

Emeria, the leading European provider of technologies enabled real estate services has entered into exclusive negotiations with Odealim to sell Assurimo.

Assurimo is a longstanding, established insurance broker providing an extensive range of property management-related insurance solutions in France.

The contemplated transaction is underpinned by the signature of a long-term partnership aiming at supporting and developing Assurimo's client base within Emeria's businesses in France.

The closing of this transaction is subject to the consultation process or information of the employee representative bodies, and is expected to close before the end of the year.

About Emeria

Emeria is the leading European provider of technologies enabled real estate services, to both individuals and businesses. We assist our residential and commercial customers at every stage of their property journey with competitive and comprehensive service offerings: acquisition, lease and renting, block management and sales. The Group generates more than 1.5bn euro of revenues and operates mainly in Europe where it has a multi-branding strategy. Our residential real estate services business is the leader in France, operating under the Foncia brand through a unique network of over 600 branches. We are also a leader in the UK, a market we have successfully entered into in 2022. In addition, we also hold leading positions in Germany, Belgium and have a strong presence in Switzerland, Luxembourg, and the Netherlands where we operate under various brands.
